Directions (Q. Nos 51 – 55) : Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow the passage . Your answers to these questions should be based on the passages only.

On the 11th of March, 1930 , the crowd swelled to 10,000, at the evening prayer held on the Sabarmati sands at Ahmedabad. At the end, Gandhiji delivered a memorable speech on the eve of his historic march:

In all probability this will be my last speech to you. Even if the Government allow me to march tomorrow morning, this will be my last speech on the sacred banks of the Sabarmati . Possibly these may be the last words of my life here.

I have already told you yesterday what I had to say. Today I shall confine myself to what you should do after my companions and I are arrested. The programme of the march to pay taxes if we have the requisite strength. The lawyers can give up practice. The public can boycott the law courts by refraining from litigation. Government servants can resign their posts. In the midst of the despair reigning all round people quake with fear of losing employment. Such men are unfit for Swaraj . But why this despair?

The number of Government servants in the country does not exceed a few hundred thousands. What about the rest? Where are they to go? Even free India will not be able to accommodate a greater number of public servants. A collector then will not need the number of servants , he has got today. He will be his own servant. Our starving millions can be no means afford this enormous expenditure. If ,therefore, we are sensible enough, let us bid good – bye to Government employment, no matter if it the post of a judge of a peon. Let all who are co operating with the Government in one way or another, be it by paying taxes, keeping titles , or sending children to official schools, etc, withdraw their co – operation in all or as many wats as possible. Then there are women who can stand shoulder to shoulder with men in this struggle.

You may take it as my will, It was the message that I desired to impart to you before starting on the march or for the jail. I wish that there should be no suspension or abandonment of the war that commences tomorrow morning or earlier, if I am arrested before that time. I shall eagerly await the news that ten batches are ready as soon as my batch is arrested. I believe there are men in India to complete the work our begun by me. I have faith in the righteousness of our cause and the purity of our weapons. And where the means are clean, there God is undoubtedly present with his blessings. And where these three combine, there defeat is an impossibility. A satyagrahi, whether free or incarcerated, is ever victorious. He is vanquished only, when he forsakes through and non violence and turns a deaf ear to the inner voice. If , therefore, there is such a thing as defeat for even a Satyagrahi , he alone is the cause of it. God bless you all and keep off all obstacles from the path in the struggle that begins tomorrow.

Direction (Q. Nos 56 – 60) : Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow the passage. Your answer to those questions should be based on the passages only.

During the evolution of the Nation the moral culture of brotherhood was limited by geographical boundaries, because at that time those boundaries were true. Now they have become imaginary lines of tradition divested of the qualities of real obstacles. So the time has become when man’s moral nature must deal with this great fact with all seriousness or perish. The first impulse of this change of circumstance has been the churning up of man's baser passions of greed and cruel hatred. If this persists indefinitely, and armaments go on exaggerating themselves to unimaginable absurdities, and machines and store houses envelop this fair earth with their dirt and smoke and ugliness, then it will end in a conflagration of suicide. Therefore man will have to exert all his power of love and clarity of vision to make another great moral adjustment will be comprehend to Jabalpur must be fulfilled as originally settled. The enlistment of the volunteers for this purpose should be confined to Gujarat only. From , what I have been and heard during the last fortnight , I am inclined to believe that the stream of civil resisters will flow unbroken.

But let there be not a semblance of breach of peace even after all of us have been arrested. We have resolved to utilize all our resources in the pursuit of an exclusively non violent struggle. Let no one commit a wrong in anger. This is my hope and prayer I wish these words of mine reached every nook and corner of the land. My task shall be done if I perish and so do my comrades. It will then be for the working Committee of the congress to show you the way and it will be up to you to follow its lead. So long as I have reached Jalalpur, let nothing be done in contravention to the authority vested in me by the Congress. But once, I am arrested, the whole responsibility shifts to the congress. No one who believes in non violence , as a creed, need, therefore, sit still. My compact with the congress ends as soon as I am arrested. In that case volunteers. Wherever possible, civil disobedience of salt should be started. These laws can be violated in three ways. It is an offence to manufacture salt wherever there are facilities for doing so. The possession and sale of contraband salt, which includes natural salt or salt earth, is also an offence. The purchasers of such salt will be equally guilty . To carry away the natural salt deposits on the sea shore is likewise violation of law. So is the hawking of such salt . In short , you may choose any one or all of these devices to break the salt monopoly.

We are, however, not to be content with this alone. There is no ban by the congress and wherever the local workers have self confidence other suitable measures may be adopted. I stress only one condition, namely, let our pledge of truth and non violence as the only means for the attainment of Swaraj be faithfully kept . For the rest, everyone has a free hand, But, than does not give a licence to all and sundry to carry on their own responsibility. Wherever there are local leaders, their orders should be obeyed by the people. Where they are no leaders and only a handful of men have faith in the programme, they may do what they can , if they have enough self – confidence. They have a right, nay it is their duty , to do so. The history of the is full of instances of men who rose to leadership, by sheer force of self confidence, bravery and tenacity, We too, if we sincerely aspire to Swaraj and are impatient to attain it, should have similar self confidence. Our ranks will swell and our hearts strengthen, as the number of our arrests by the government increases.

Much can be done in many other ways besides these. The Liquor and foreign cloth shops can be picketed . We can refuse civilization is sending its trumpet call to all people of the world across an unlimited future, this very freedom of detachment will enable you to accept its invitation and to achieve the goal for which Europe began her journey but lost herself midway. For she was tempted out of her path by her pride of power and greed of possession.

Nature writing is non fiction or fiction prose or poetry about the natural environment . Nature writing encompasses a wide variety of works, ranging from those that place primary emphasis on natural history facts (such as field guides) to those in which philosophical interpretation predominate. It includes natural history essays, poetry, essays of solitude or escape , as well as travel and adventure writing.

Nature writing often draws heavily on scientific information and facts about the natural world; at the same time, it is frequently written in the first person and incorporates personal observations of and philosophical reflections upon nature.

Modern nature writing traces its roots to the works of natural history that were popular in the second half of the 18th century and throughout the 19th . An important early figure was the “parsonaturalist” Gilbert White (1720 – 1793) , a pioneering English naturalist and ornithologist. Direction (Q. Nos 71 – 75) : Read the following passages carefully and then answer the questions given below it.

Economist have spent most of the 20th century ignoring psychology, positive or otherwise. But today there is a great deal of emphasis on how happiness can shape global economies, or – on a smaller scale – successful business practice. This is driven, in part, by a trend in “measuring” positive emotions, mostly so they can be optimized. Neuroscientists, for example, claim to be able to locate specific emotions, such as happiness or disappointment, in particular areas of the brain. Wearable technologies, such as Spire, offer data driven advice on how to reduce stress.

We are no longer just dealing with “happiness” in a philosophical or romantic sense – it has become something that can be monitored and measured, including by our behavior, use of social media and bodily indicators such as pulse rate and facial expressions.

There is nothing automatically sinister about this trend. But it is disquieting that the businesses and experts driving the quantification of happiness claim to have our best interest at heart, often concealing their own agendas in the process. In the EC – workplace, happy workers are viewed as a “win – win”. Work becomes more pleasant, and employees, more productive. But this is now being pursued through the use of performance – evaluating wearable technology, such as Humanyze or Virgin Pulse, both of which monitor physical signs of stress and activity towards the goal of increasing productivity.

Cities such as Dubai, which has pledged to become the “happiest city in the world”, dream up ever more elaborate and intrusive ways of collecting data on well being – to the point where there is now talk of using CCTV cameras to monitor facial expressions in public spaces. New ways of deflecting emotions are hitting the market all the time. One company, beyond Verbal, aims to calculate moods conveyed in a phone conversation, potentially without the knowledge of at least one of the participants. And Facebook [has] demonstrated... that it could influence our emotions through tweaking our news feeds – opening the door to ever – more targeted manipulation in advertising and influence.

As the science grows more sophisticated and technologies become more intimate with our thoughts anybody's, a clear trend is emerging. Where happiness indicators were once used as basis to reform society, challenging the obsession with money that GDP measurement entrenches, they are increasingly used as a basis to transform or discipline individuals

Happiness becomes a personal project, that each of us must now work on, like going to the gym. Since the 1970s depression has come to be viewed as a cognitive or neurological defect in the individual, and never a consequence of circumstances. All of this simple escalates the sense of responsibility each of us feels for our own feelings, and with it, the sense of failure when things go badly. A society that deliberately removed certain sources of misery, such as precarious and exploitative employment, may well be a happier one. But we won't get there by making this single, often fleeting emotion, the over – arching goal.

71. In the author's opinion, the shift in thinking in the 1970s:
(A) introduced greater stress into people's lives as they were expected to be responsible for their own happiness
(B) was a welcome change from the earlier view that depression could be cured by changing circumstances
(C) put people in touch with their own feelings rather than depending on psychologists
(D) reflected the emergence of neuroscience as the authority on human emotions.
72. The author's view would be undermined which of the following research findings?
(A) There is a definitive move towards the adoption of wearable technology that taps into emotions.
(B) A proliferation of gyms that are collecting data on customer well being
